Ah, Santa Maria is where I was born (and they haven't recovered yet 😊). I'll need to dig up TV from there from that date (9/21/56).

The real definition of "fake news": a Huey Lewis tribute band.

Side note of interest: The syndicated Wheel of Fortune which began the previous September, did not air on any LA's main VHF stations until March 5, 1984 when KCOP 13 picked it up, moving The Joker's Wild and Tic-Tac-Dough back to KHJ 9 for the first time since Sept. 1981. I've been long wondering why certain syndicated game shows failed to clear any Los Angeles station, considering that's the very city they're produced in!

That's interesting to see Good Day LA as far back in the 1980's when Metromedia owned KTTV 11. But that has to be way different than how Fox would do that for the past 30 years.

That's very likely.

What was "Give It a Whirl" on WIIC at 9 a.m.? Local game show? I don't recall anything with that title on NBC.

Turns out it was a local show. My best guess of genre is 'variety'.

I take that back. Just checked the Pittsburgh newspaper archives, and it was a local game show, started in 1965.

ABC 4 didn't air Dark Shadows

ABC 4 didn't air Dark Shadows

KDKA didn't air with As the World Turns or Guiding Light.

KDKA cleared Guiding Light--it aired at 12:45 after Search For Tomorrow (both were 15-minute shows back then). The other CBS show KDKA didn't clear was Love Is A Many Splendored Thing.

Retro: Chicago, May 1943

One channel only, exact date not given, but it was on a Monday. Schedule may not be complete, but it was wartime on an experimental station, after all.

Chicago TV Program Schedules

W9XBK Channel 2 (60-66 MHz)

7:30 PM: B&K News -- Cubberly and Campbell

7:45 PM: Joseph Golan, Violin Virtuoso. Lois Albright at the piano.

8:00 PM: Film -- Getting Together (1928)*

8:10 PM: Burr Tillstrom Presents Kukla, The Patriotic Puppet

8:30 PM: The Home Front with Harry Cansdale

* A search of IMDB revealed a one-reel silent movie called Getting Together that was released in 1928. No cast or other details about the film were listed, but the production company was listed as Sports Pictorals.

Wow is this the oldest listing we've seen on RadioDiscussions for TV?

There apparently was another TV station in Chicago in 1943 W9XZV, and why it's not listed I don't know. W9XBK would eventually become WBBM, Chicago's CBS affiliate.

W9XZV was Zenith's experimental station on Channel 1 (50-56 MHz). They must not have aired anything other than maybe a test pattern that day.

And of course "B&K News" was a reference to then-owners Balaban and Katz, which was a prominent motion picture theatre owner in the region back then.

That Dick Cavett Show that was in Sesame Street's 9:00 AM slot was a special episode on diabetes, which played again at 7:00 PM.

Where did you live that had the Sacramento stations sharing with KDTV and KQEC?

I grew up on the Peninsula, and remember being annoyed that KTXL and KDTV shared channel space. TCI also did that with WTBS and KCSM at one point.

Regarding two program titles: 'Variedadades de Medianoche' was actually a late night variety show on Mexican TV, which aired in some U.S. markets in 1977-78.

'Boxing At the Olympic' refers to a venue in Los Angeles, the Olympic Auditorium, where fights were held regularly for many years. Channel 34 in Los Angeles originated the telecasts, and they aired on other SIN stations.

I lived in Dublin. And thanks for that info on those SIN programs.

10 KXTV (32 KQEC temporarily off the air)

That was the case a lot of the time when KQEC was "operating" between 1971 (after KNEW-TV) and 1981 (when KMTP got the facilities and a license to replace the one held by KQED that had been revoked for a variety of shortcomings ... not the least of which was outright lying to the FCC).

I think you mean 1991, instead of 1981 when KQEC became KMTP.

I did. Typo, as evidenced by my having the correct date in my linked article.

Retro: San Luis Obispo/Morro Bay, CA - January 11, 1988 and 1989

For my high school junior and senior years, I was back in San Luis Obispo County, in Morro Bay, which was served by Sonic Cable along with San Luis Obispo, instead of Falcon Cable which I had in Los Osos and Atascadero, thus slightly different channel lineups as I have listed in my earlier post "Sonic and Falcon Cable TV" in the Retro Cable topic. The channel lineup from that time is as follows:

2 KCBS (CBS) LA

3 KEYT (ABC) Santa Barbara

5 KTLA (Ind.) LA

6 KSBY (NBC) SLO (on ch. 4)

7 KABC (ABC) LA

9 KHJ (Ind.) LA

11 KTTV (Fox) LA

12 KCOY (CBS) Santa Maria

13 KCOP (Ind.) LA

28 KCET (PBS) LA (on ch. 8)

Curious to not see KNBC/ch. 4 among the pertinent L.A. VHF's.

Undoubtedly, because KSBY/6 was affiliated with NBC and its COL was in the home county of the cable system, they had the right under FCC non-duplication rules to request its removal. That is also likely one of the reasons KSBY was on channel 4 (although the other was probably that the off-air signal would interfere with the cable reception ... the same reason KEYT/3 was always on channel 6 on the Santa Barbara cable system).

RandTV said:

KNBC was not available in San Luis Obispo County, but it was as far north as Santa Maria, in Santa Barbara County, just on the line with SLO County. I forgot to list KSBY channel 6 being broadcast on channel 4.

The non-duplication rule couldn't be invoked by KCOY/12 against KCBS/2 or by KEYT against KABC/7 because they were in Santa Barbara County, not San Luis Obispo County. Similarly, KSBY couldn't invoke it against KNBC in Santa Barbara County.

Ah, that old rule. It makes sense now.

Southern California, Saturday September 13, 1969

This date has a special meaning to me, as it was the last day of operation for KKOG-TV/16 Ventura, which is my hometown and also the very first station I worked for in either television or radio. From the Los Angeles Times "TV Times" booklet in the Sunday, September 7 edition.

Stations listed (all Los Angeles unless otherwise identified):

2 - KNXT (CBS)

3 - KEYT Santa Barbara (ABC)

4 - KNBC (NBC)

- 5 - KTLA (Ind.)
- 6 - XETV Tijuana-San Diego (ABC)

The San Diego Non-Commercial TV station KPBS as KEBS-TV, and it first went on the air on June 25th, 1967. But by October 1, 1970!! the call letters for KEBS have NOW changed to KPBS-TV!! And then on October 5th, 1970, NET(National Educational Television) officially became the Public Broadcasting Service, or PBS for short. The station just for Monday-Fridays, and then on Sundays for its first ever 5 years!!

KPBS did broadcast Saturdays by November 21, 1970 just 5 times of repeats of Sesame Street, But then, ALL WENT WELL, but KPBS was in danger because of precariousness of state support and cuts in grants since early February 1971, so then it now turns to the community for financial support and since its FIRST EVER TV On-Air Membership Campaign began February 14, 1971 and it now conducts Pledge Nights from 3 times each month throughout every year(1971 to 1973), ALL WENT WELL until the station is in danger AGAIN because its budget for state funds has been SLASHED by the state of California on June 1971 and Saturdays for Sesame Street at that same time have gone, and for that POINT, KPBS is now conducting MORE Pledge Nights from 3 times each month throughout every year(1971 to 1973) to keep the non-commercial station going strong from Viewers Like You and by 1974 through today...NOW conducting Membership Campaigns 4 months a year(4 times)-March(3 weeks), June, August and December(2 weeks)!! Then on May 1974 through June 1987...The KPBS Auction from 5 nights through 9 nights at that Time!!

NOTE: KPBS didn't broadcast Saturdays again until September 1972!!

:unsure: I am still trying to decipher the combination of your syntax, the run-on sentences punctuated almost entirely by exclamation points, use of the present rather than past tense, and newspaper articles which are essentially unreadable because of cropping.

But I think there was something relevant in there someplace ...

This was the premiere date for CBS's Saturday kidvid shows. NBC and ABC had theirs the week prior.

I am guessing the listings of Untamed World and Storybook Squares on the NBC channels is a misprint as Heckle & Jeckle occupied that time period starting the week prior and Storybook Squares ended August 30.

All I know is what I saw in print. Back then there were no national listings services for newspapers so the Times would have manually entered whatever was in the schedules provided to them by the local stations.

It's Philly - the same town that booed Santa Claus at an Eagles game...think a little PG-13 gore is gonna phase them?

Retro: Sacramento/Reno - Saturday, December 3, 1977

I spent that weekend at a Lake Tahoe house that a friend of my mom's rented out to. I remember having to wait for the Krofft Supershow on ABC, which was delayed to the afternoon by two NCAA football games.

Around the next month or so, C.B. Bears became a component of the two-hour Go Go Globetrotters show on NBC. Meanwhile on CBS, the Skatebirds show got splintered as the Robonic Stooges segment got its own time period (billed as The Three Robonic Stooges).

Beautiful PBS Special Holiday Programming like The Snow Goose, A Gift to Last!!

On this date is where many PBS stations (including my local PBS station: KPBS 15 in San Diego) continuing their "A Different Picture for the Holidays" Membership Pledge Drive-11 Nights of Outstanding Programming(November 26- December 6th, 1977)!!

I don't remember watching "Nestor" at that Tahoe cabin. The other Saturdays that late fall in which KOLO ch. 8 aired the "Krofft Supershow" at 4:00 PM were Oct. 15, Nov. 5, and Nov. 26. The latter date was the Thanksgiving weekend, so that may have been the most likely date of that trip, but it's a great retro schedule nonetheless!

Uncle Croc's Block, (10:30 AM, ch. 7) ostensibly a spoof of local kids show hosts, was such a resounding flop that ABC severed all business ties with Filmmation (producers of the show) after that.

I imagine NBC followed suit sometime between then and 1981, when CBS was the only network with Filmation shows.

WPIX 7PM should be "This Is The NFL"

Must've been a typo from the Daily News' schedule. Thanks for that correction.

I just checked Newsday's listing, and it was indeed "This is the NFL".

I've just realized the irony of that error made by the Daily News, considering the fact that they owned WPIX!

The second-to-last listing (Midnight) under channel 9 should've said "International Championship Wrestling", not "Racing".

Surprised by the utter lack of 6pm news on a Saturday in New York City!

12 noon on WOR was wrestling was that the WWWF Championship Wrestling show?

I wouldn't know.

4:00

20 - Superfriends (Might have been different from Hanna-Barbera's "Super Friends" franchise which was still early in its ABC Saturday morning run, and wasn't released into syndication until 1982.) My guess is that this is the "Marvel Superheroes" cartoons from the mid-sixties (Iron Man, Captain America, Hulk, Sub-Mariner, and Thor) -- they were distributed by the same syndicator (ARP Films) as handled Spider-

Man, so they often aired on the same station.

Channel 2 News was anchored by Joseph Benti & Sandy Hill and the station fired Jerry Dunphy over the summer. Jerry went to KABC Eyewitness News right away where he began his 14 year run at the station. Jerry co-anchored with Swedish born Christine Lund and they were the most recognized anchorteam in Southern California. The Ch 7 sports director was Stu Nahan and of course Dr George Fischbeck with weather. KNBC was anchored by Jess Marlow at 5:00, Paul Moyer & Kelly Lange at 6:00, and John Schubeck at 11:00. The sports director was non other than Bryant Gumbel. The World at 10:00 on KTLA was anchored by Clete Roberts, check out the YouTube video.

Some great programming on the independent stations. They were the Me-TVs of this era and the 4 of them together enough to keep somebody entertained for hours and hours. Interesting how KTLA has the 700 Club in the morning and Love American Style in afternoon.

Wolf Rock TV was one of those "blink and you'll miss it" kids shows ABC regrets ("Uncle Croc's Block", we're looking at you as well).

I digress, I was a pup in Riverside CA in 1961 and recalled KHJ. Lost track of it and all Los Angeles TV when we moved to Georgia in '65.

I was actually watching when the call letters changed, and technically everything after midnight on the KHJ schedule was aired under the KCAL calls.

Did you also watch when Channel 2 changed its call from KNXT to KCBS on April 1-2, 1984?

I'm pretty sure I watched the special that aired beforehand, so I think so. But I distinctly remember the KHJ to KCAL change.

This is where Jerry Dunphy went to after he left KABC Eyewitness News in 1989. Ch 9 was crippled at the time but rised again with their new image. This is where Jerry was for the rest of his natural life until he died in early 2002, except for his 1995-97 return to Ch 2. During his shortlived comeback at the station he once anchored in the 60s & early 70s, it was already KCBS and co-anchored Action News with his old Eyewitness colleague Ann Martin. Jerry Dunphy & Tawny Little co-anchored together on both Chs 7 & 9.

He started his career in Peoria, was news director at the short-lived UHF station KEDD in Wichita in 1954, then returned to his hometown of Milwaukee after a year, from which he moved to WBBM-TV Chicago. He went from there to co-owned KNXT in 1960, then to KABC in 1975, which is where you nicely pick up the timeline.

<https://uhfhistory.com/articles/kedd.html>

(P. S. - I think the word you were looking for in the second sentence was "rose" ...)

He joined Ch. 9 just months before its callsign change. Both he and the equally iconic Hal Fishman were inspirations of The Simpsons' Kent Brockman!

I remember that Cosby Show episode "Off to See the Wretched", which was possibly the worst thing Vanessa ever did, and the most furious that Claire has ever scolded as a result! On a lighter note, it began with Olivia (then 4-year-old Raven-Symone) calling a joke line, running up the Huxtables' phone bill!

It makes no sense to have two ABC affiliates licensed to cities 37 miles apart as the crow flies. That's less than the distance from Charleston to Huntington (44 miles).

WOAY needs to be a satellite of WCHS with possibly a separate 6 pm and 11 pm cut-in on WOAY originating in Oak Hill/Beckley (think the former WSAZ split Huntington/Charleston newscast). For ownership reasons (WCHS/Sinclair and WOAY/the Thomas family), that idea is probably dead on arrival, however, that said, the Thomases tried to sell WOAY to Withers Broadcasting in 1990 but it didn't happen.

The title for Masterpiece Theatre should've been "The Six Wives of Henry VIII", one part for each wife.

I also forgot to put the title for the ABC Sunday Night Movie (Ch. 7 at 9:00), which was "The Bravos".

9:15 Sunday Mass

10:00 Banana Splits

10:30 Sea Hunt

11:00 Massachusetts Council of Rabbis

What is with kid's programming being randomly aired in the middle of religious shows in the 1970s? I saw it in an Indianapolis TV listing in 1977 and now this.

1:30 ABA Basketball: Utah Stars vs. Indiana Pacers

Here's an odd one. From some quick searching the ABA had no network contract in 1972 (CBS did air some postseason and All-Star games) so this must be syndicated. But Boston had no ABA team, and of course the established NBA Celtics would have hogged all the attention anyway. I don't understand WSBK's thinking.

Your questions are just as good as mine. I never knew about the ABA's lack of a network contract. What I've put down is from what's in the Boston Globe, as mentioned as my source.

The NHL likewise had no network contract later in the '70s, but had a syndicated package of Saturday games that aired in markets both with and without a team in the league.

There was a book written about it, called The Hundred Million Dollar Lunch, written by Sterling Quinlan. It was published in 1974 and has been out of print for a long time. I do remember reading it a number of years ago.

Retro: KPBS-TV Channel 15-San Diego, CA - (Festival '75 Membership Campaign)-Complete Schedule-March 7th, 1975 through March 17th, 1975

SOURCE: Times-Advocate in Escondido, CA, San Diego Union, San Diego Evening Tribune.

Here is the complete schedule of Festival '75 Membership Campaign from PBS affiliate KPBS-TV in San Diego, CA from Friday March 07, 1975 through March 17th, 1975. ☐ ☐

NOTE: KPBS is conducting its usual local Membership Campaign but the first national membership campaign for PBS called Festival '75: The First PBS National Membership and Public Awareness Drive-11 Great Nights of Public TV(March 07, 1975 through March 17, 1975) and it will include Membership Appeals between regularly scheduled programs, so I don't know if the station had another membership pledge campaign after the February 1974 Public Television Membership Week or before the December 1974 Awareness Week, and any other membership pledge drive in 1972 and 1973.

SO PRETTY PLEASE Let me know in the comments or questions or suggestions for any concern... DON'T HESITATE, COMMENT ANYTIME

I notice that Fresno's then CBS affiliate KFSN Channel 30 didn't air TPIR back in 1978, 3 years after it expanded to 1 hour?

I know, it's tragic. Yet they still aired the weekly nighttime version from that time. I've just checked through the Fresno Bee's files, and KFSN's hiatus from airing TPIR was from September 13, 1976 to April 23, 1979 (the day Whew! premiered). I chose that date because of those game show hosts' (including Barker) appearance on "Tomorrow".

EDIT: WNEV and WXNE, not WVEN and WNXE.

So, did WSMW just go off the air at 7PM?

Seems like it.

WSMW carried the Preview subscription service back in those days (specifically, from 1980 to '85); less than a year after these listings, Preview covered nearly of all WSMW's broadcast day, starting in July 1983 lasting until mid-1985. After Preview closed their Boston service, WSMW reverted back to more a general independent station focusing on metro Boston, relaunching with new calls in 1987--WHLL.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/WUNI>

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Preview_\(subscription_service\))

WSMW also aired daily masses. It used to be common for stations to air the Sunday mass, but did any other commercial stations air daily masses?

Your best bet to find out would probably be newspapers.com, for one. It's where I get most of my schedules put onto here.

MIDNIGHT Gunsmoke

That Seinfeld season finale was very highly memorable and helped drive the show to #1 the following year. It's amazing to look back and see how Seinfeld was actually a highly serialized show, especially during the 1992-93 from Jerry and George bringing Kramer back LA to the Daviola story to characters like the Bubble Boy, Teri Hatcher's Sidra, and Susan's bi-sexuality creating a crazy yet very memorable mix.

I remember the Cheers finale being sucky as hell with Shelly Long coming back as Diane for a pointless reason and the absurd destruction of Fraiser and Lilith's marriage so Fraiser could start fresh with his new spin off set in Seattle. I loved the post Diane seasons better but the Cheers finale sucked, and Wings was always such a pale imitation of Cheers that the show was doomed to fail like it did, only saved by Angell & Casey's relationship to NBC.

I see WHLL is missing; they were in the process of transitioning to Spanish at this time but still carried the NBC soap Another World. By fall Another World was on WMFP

Sorry the Cheers finale wasn't so popular with you. Is it true that fans despised Diane?

Didn't NYPD Blue ended in 2004?

nope, it ended in 2005, the episode was in its last year.

Dang infomercials at 12:30 pm on a weekday that is unusual for a network affiliated station to do that especially an ABC affiliate from this 2005 listing.

KVII still has an infomercial but at 11:30 am after its midday newscast .

Retro: Chicago - Saturday, September 16, 1972

Again, I'll be highlighting the highlight of that date and market in bold, this one being the premiere of the Chicago-based Bob Newhart Show, which is why I chose that date for that market, as I've just did for Minneapolis-St. Paul the day the Mary Tyler Moore Show premiered.

NOON Nino (Spanish-language telenovela from Argentina)

It's strange to see a program like this airing on an English-speaking station: I bet it didn't last long in NYC. Wonder if it aired in Spanish or dubbed in English. Nino was very popular in South America, particularly in Argentina and Peru (the countries who co-produced the serial, which aired on Canal 13 Buenos Aires and Panamericana Television, respectively).

I'll check the New York paper archives for that. If it was in Spanish, it might have had English subtitles.

1:15 Movie: "The Jazz Singer" - (1927, Musical/Drama) - Al Jolson, May McAvoy, Warner Oland (historic revolutionary "first talkie", marking the beginning of the end of the Silent Era)

This is a surprising listing for 1972. Although it was a "talkie", a lot of the movie is still silent. The only silent films I've seen on a commercial station later than this is Charlie Chaplin/Harold Lloyd classic comedies. And I'm surprised that a film featuring blackface was still viable in 1972; it's not like "Holiday Inn" where you can just edit one scene out.

I've seen some portions of "The Jazz Singer", and saw it still had the "silent movie" elements. If I misinterpreted the genre, my apologies.

Oh no you're absolutely right in calling it a "talkie" and that's what movie historians refer to it as. After all we still call "The Wizard of Oz" a color movie even though a good chunk of it's monochrome.

The main reason I don't list nighttime syndicated game show guests is due to the "bicycling" practice, meaning the broadcast order was out of sync from the production order. Plus the guests are usually not listed in the newspapers' schedules.

and i can see WTNH had pre-empted Good Morning America.

At least there was still WABC 7 available.

So Vision On was still making the rounds on U.S. TV. In 1972, our CBS station (then WAGA) slotted it Saturdays at 9 AM over the network offering (The Amazing Chan and the Chan Clan). Noted it ran 12 years on BBC and among the cast was a pre-Doctor Who Sylvester McCoy.

I remember first seeing it on KQED San Francisco (PBS) in 1982.

Here is another Connecticut schedule from that day.

11:00 News 20

11:30 Tonight Show

1:00 Midnight Special

See ch. 30 WHNB for guest info on Celebrity Sweepstakes, Hollywood Squares, The Tonight Show, and Midnight Special.

Addendum and Corrections:

Additional guests on ch. 3's broadcast of Dinah! (4:30 PM) were Freddie Prinze, Ruth Buzzi, Jerry Martinez (comc), Bob Holt (impressionist) and Jag Fashions (model-dancer troupe)

The guest star on ch. 8's premiere of The Muppet Show was actually Sandy Duncan, not Rita Moreno.

That schedule for WATR certainly looks low budget. Did they really not even have a 6 PM news show, but just 2 1/2 hours of the PTL Club?

According to the schedule in the papers.

10:00 Full House (local broadcast, since it was an ABC show)

I know NBC aired reruns of Full House in the summer of 1991 before they went into syndication in the fall. Also the NBC station here pre-empted Full House for syndicated programming and also aired Santa Barbara in the morning hour here instead of Full House.

I just deleted that parenthesized note after checking Wikipedia's daytime schedule from that time, and it was indeed part of NBC's schedule, despite the fact that it was an ABC show. How did that come to be, and do you know of any other instances of daytime network sitcom reruns from another network?

Think Full House was the only one as other daytime reruns that were shown were aired in primetime on the network.

Note on "Tattletales" -- there was a rerun package in syndication during this season, so while it's possible that 7 picked up where 4 stopped, it's unlikely.

Likely reruns as Tattletales ended on June 1, 1984. WSVN likely picked it up at whatever week of shows were bicycled there.

This post inspired to restart the 1980's TV ratings thread found here:

As I recall, the Dick Tracy cartoon was re-distributed without the Joe Jitsu and Go Go Gomez episodes.

I recall how by that time, it was considered very racially insensitive. KCAL 9 Los Angeles aired it until August 1990 when they replaced it with Underdog. I was so "stoked" to see my most favorite cartoon from my early childhood again!

Was that the station that produced it?

As I recall, the Dick Tracy cartoon was re-distributed without the Joe Jitsu and Go Go Gomez episodes.

I remember watching this cartoon on KDSM in 1990 and those characters were still on the show.

Real? It didn't air here (Atlanta) so I was going by previous notations. I do recall that Joe Jitsu was created as a good guy to soothe any residual ill feelings Japan had against us from WW2.

Yeah there was one episode we taped off tv and it had the Joe Jitsu character

I can see The Price is Right topped out only by Family Feud. I wonder how long it took for them to regain the top? What's that attachment from BTW?

I am not sure I'll look for ya though. The attachment is from Daytime TV Magazine, a publication that ran from the late 70's to about the late 80's or so.

7:00 This Evening (local newsmagazine

This short-lived program was hosted by Nancy Glass, who also reported for Inside Edition. Glass presented American Journal in the 1990s.

Curiously, TV Guide billed the Now You See It revival as a debuting show. Whoever wrote the copy must have forgotten the '74 show.

It was a debut of that version. That is an entirely accurate listing.

Why would WPIX air NWA Worldwide Wrestling at 3am Saturday instead of a hour (for example 12 noon or 1pm Saturday) that's easy to watch?

Something for the night owls, I guess.

My guess would be that it aired at a better time on the weekend with that same episode airing during the week.

Why would WPIX air NWA Worldwide Wrestling at 3am Saturday instead of a hour (for example 12 noon or 1pm Saturday) that's easy to watch?

Because it was garbage? Just spitballing. 😊

1989 is right around the height of WWF(E)'s "Rock-n-Wrestling era", with Hulk Hogan still as wrestling's biggest star (with all due respect to Ric Flair), and particularly in the Northeastern US, Vince McMahon and his merry band of "carnies" always dominated in popularity. However, even WWF by the early-to-mid 90s was losing popularity, as Hogan, Randy Savage, and many other stalwarts of the Rock-n-Wrestling era either retired, passed away (such as Andre the Giant in 1993), or fled to join Ted Turner's World Championship Wrestling, not unlike what happened a decade earlier when McMahon was going after talent from other promotions, most particularly from Verne Gagne's American Wrestling Association

Besides NWA/Jim Crockett Promotions (the forerunner of WCW) on TBS and WWF (weekly TV on USA Network and local syndication including on the Fox O&Os), the only other promotions that had some kind of national TV at this particular time were the dying American Wrestling Association (weekly TV on ESPN and local syndication in some cities) and World Class Championship Wrestling (which shut down in 1990), the Dallas-based promotion founded and owned by Fritz Von Erich (real name Jack Adkisson) that featured his sons Kevin, David, Kerry, Mike, and Chris as the "top stars" of the company amongst other established and up-and-coming names in wrestling. Not until the "Monday Night Wars" of the late '90s to early 2000s that someone else challenged WWF/E, but their two main rivals (WCW and to a lesser extent, Extreme Championship Wrestling) both went out of business in 2001.

I never was a fan of WWF, which is why I watched American Gladiators when it and Saturday Night's Main Event aired at the same time. (One on WLOS, the other on WYFF). Even though Vince McMahon and his merry band of "carnies" always dominated in popularity, I think AG gave the WWF a run for its money between 1989-1993.

Chuck Henry on Now You See it. Chuck Henry is forgotten in other parts of the USA except for Los Angeles where he is a legendary Local TV Anchor. Note there is a time between 1979-1983 where Chuck Henry was in Chicago before he returned to Los Angeles on KABC-TV and KNBC-TV as anchor/reporter.

11:30 Black Perspective (x2)

On this same day where many PBS stations including my own station: KPBS in San Diego kicked off the August 1977 Membership Pledge Campaign running Friday August 19th through Monday August 29th!!

So that was the day it started. I just put up the NorCal schedule from three days earlier (the day Elvis died and where I was living then), and KQED had no Pledge Breaks on their schedule.

Maybe it started Saturday August 20th for KQED for 16 days, but for other stations just 11 days!!

I've just checked newspapers.com, and yes, KQED did start their Pledge Week on the 20th.

That's right, during the August 1977 pledge campaign, PBS stations aired encores of the Festival '77 and other past pledge specials like "All Star Swing Festival", "The Vienna Philharmonic New Year's Concert" and then aired some new Opera Theatre and "Theater in America" specials also known as "Great Performances", then marathons of Five Red Herrings and Madame Bovary, Mel Torme in Concert with Woody Herman, The 1977 Drum Corps International Championships and regular PBS favorites.

Slight correction, it was only the Portland and Seattle affiliates who did so. They were jointly owned and preferred to air news rather than show the game on time. I remember watching KAPP Yakima and they always aired the game live.

That makes more sense. Then again, I don't see why they chose to crop off the first hour for news.

Retro: Boston - Sunday, August 25, 1985

Part 2 of my Samantha Smith tribute, she and her father Arthur were returning home to Manchester, Maine, flying from London where she was filming the ABC series Lime Street with Robert Wagner as her TV father. Wow minor league baseball on broadcast TV!

Notice the music shows still on the air. WSCH has a country music block, standard in the 70s but dying out due to TNN/CMT. And although American Bandstand is still on the air the fact it's airing videos shows how the show's desperately trying to stay relevant.

Solid Gold also aired a video for each episode.

She's a Texan? There's no way! ☐

Thanks for the list.

Born in Ft. Worth, raised in Burleson.

No KNBN/33? I think they were all-Spanish at this time, so maybe the DMN and the Startlegram chose not to publish the Spanish listings.

Do you want me to add that on as well?

If you're wondering why two stations closed down so early, it was because both broadcast subscription TV services (basically an OTA Home Box Office) in the evening hours. KTXA was ON TV while KTWS broadcast Preview.

Do you want me to add that on as well?

Actually, both the Morning News and Star-Telegram DID publish KNBN's listings. In two years, they were bought by Metromedia and changed its call to KDAF, which eventually became one of Fox's founding O&O stations.

Here's their SIN schedule for that day, with English translations.

7:00 Con Curso De La Tele (TV Contest)

7:30 Caras y Gestes (Faces and Gestures)

8:00 Complicadisimo (Complicated)

8:30 Val De La O Show (Valentino De La O is the full name of the host)

9:30 Burbujas (Bubbles)

Penn State defeated Alabama in that football game, 19-17.

And believe it or not, that College Football Report that is listed at 4 P.M. on KABC as the subtitle of The Race for #1 is the same title that was on CBS College Football's halftime studio coverage in a shorter form under Prudential sponsorship w/Jim Nantz and Pat Haden (which brings up something I'd like to know about that; why would a title that then was used for studio coverage on CBS College Football be used as a subtitle of an entire show [possibly syndicated] after NCAA Football on ABC?).

So CBS Sports used "College Football" instead of "NCAA Football" for their titles? I use "NCAA" for college sports in general.

That is true (albeit, before that, starting in '82 [this titling was used in '83 as well], their coverage was called CBS Sports NCAA [w/an image of a football beside the NCAA part]; the College Football titling would be used starting in '84).

Interesting.

Retro: Milwaukee - Tuesday, May 8, 1984

Happy Days, the nostalgic sitcom that put Milwaukee on the TV map (as well as its spin-off Laverne & Shirley, which ended the year before), aired its series finale after 11 seasons.

Note: News coverages of the 1984 Presidential Primaries in Indiana, Maryland, North Carolina, and Ohio have delayed or pre-empted that day's regular programming.

@RandTV can you add the Country songs that were played on this date?

I'll try to find that info soon.

Billboard Hot Country Top Ten Singles, week ending December 16, 2000

1. My Next Thirty Years - Tim McGraw
2. We Danced - Brad Paisley
3. Without You - The Dixie Chicks (now 'The Chicks')
4. Born to Fly - Sara Evans
5. Best of Intentions - Travis Tritt
6. I Lost It - Kenny Chesney
7. Just Another Day in Paradise - Phil Vassar (NOT a remake of the Phil Collins single)
8. WWW . MEMORY - Alan Jackson
9. Tell Her - Lonestar
10. The Little Girl - John Michael Montgomery

I had to separate the spaces for #8's title which kept coming out as a link.

Those of us living in Richmond at the time used refer to the local fish wrap as "The Times-Disgrace" (referring to your note under the PBS sked).

Ah, the day I turned 22 and was mining salt for a little eatery that specialized in Texas chili. Santa Maria still hasn't recovered. 😊 in Atlanta, the locals called ours the Urinal-Constipation (whom mom worked for at the time).

Are you referring to Santa Maria, California? What did you mean they still haven't recovered?

What do you mean?

Too many errors or articles of no interest to the majority of readers.

Was that what the Times-Dispatch was known for?

Just a little self-deprecation on my part. 😊 Yes, Santa Maria, California.

I find it unusual that KTVX pre-empted network Feud but aired syndicated Feud

Or any ABC station to be doing that.

In 1988, our CBS station (then WAGA) bumped the CBS daytime Feud yet aired the syndicated nighttime show.

I just put in the mid-November 1986 schedule from Fresno in honor of the CBS miniseries of that same name, and discovered that the CBS station there (KJEO 47, now KGPE) bumped the CBS $25,000 Pyramid, yet aired the syndicated $100,000 Pyramid.

FOOTNOTES -

That panel of that day's episode of Match Game had long believed to consist of Bobby Van, Elaine Joyce (Van's wife), and Nanette Fabray, alongside regulars Brett Somers, Charles Nelson Reilly and Richard Dawson. The episode is infamous for its "Batman & Robin are _____" in which the contestant answered "Queer". Recently, Mark Goodson Fandom's Match Game episode guide has been updated for that day's panel to be McLean Stevenson, Loretta Switt, Stu Gilliam, and Ann Elder, as well as Dawson and Somers. I'm yet to receive confirmation and will indicated such as soon as it comes.

Regarding ch. 13 KTRK's 6:30 A.M. slot, each weekday consisted of ABC's Sunday morning children's lineup which were locally pre-empted by religious programs and movies. The schedule was as follows:

Monday - Kid Power

Tuesday - Osmonds

Wednesday - H. R. Pufnstuf

Thursday - Make a Wish (Tom Chapin, Harry's brother)

Friday - Challenging Sea (syndicated, the only non-ABC show)

As I recall it, Way Out Games was moved to 8 AM Sundays at that time, so WNAC would have had that at 7 here and Far Out Space Nuts following. Going off memory here and it's a mite shaky sometimes. I'll dig in deeper and research it.

I do recall soon after that Bugs Bunny-Road Runner got expanded to 90 minutes, which caused some jostling of the lineup on CBS.

Would you know the exact date of that shift?

Following up, I am (as usual) incorrect. Bugs Bunny-Road Runner expanded to 90 minutes on January 28, 1978 as listings I uncovered from elsewhere (via Google News Archive) showed it was still an hour in the Fall of 1977. Skatebirds tanked, so CBS split off The Robonic Stooges from that show into its own time period (renamed The Three Robonic Stooges), brought Speed Buggy back and expanded Bugs to an extra thirty minutes.

I don't recall WSIX/WKRN pre-empting "Land of the Giants" and "The FBI" from 6-8 on Sunday, but I wasn't getting the Northern Alabama edition of TV Guide (with Nashville listings) yet, either. In Birmingham, where I would move a couple of weeks after this, then-ABC affiliate WBRC liked to delay "Land of the Giants" and air "The Monroes" at 6, but "The FBI" was on at 7.

Bowling game - was that a sports show or a game show. Or was it a local show about bowling.

Bowling Game was a "Bowling for Dollars" type show that ran on Ch. 18 in Milwaukee for years; the show moved to Ch. 58 for its last years. It was unusual since most markets dropped Bowling shows in the early 80s.

Odd that 8 and 12 would switch at the onset of prime time. Of course the Atlanta switch of 1980 had WSB/2 changing from NBC to ABC and WXIA from ABC to NBC. To prepare for that switch in the summer, WSB aired ABC shows in the morning then NBC in the afternoon. WXIA did the inverse--mornings NBC, afternoons ABC.

Same was the case in that 1973 Nashville switch I've just posted, which was also between the ABC and PBS affiliates.

Yeah, saw that. Still strange the changes would come in the throes of a programming schedule.

If you're trying to make sure everyone in town knows about your channel change, why not make it happen in prime time when your audience is largest?

I wondered, why did these two stations switch channels? Wikipedia says it was to give public television station WYES a larger broadcast area. Because there was also a Channel 12 in Jackson, Mississippi, WYES's signal was limited. OK. But now that means the ABC affiliate WVUE, relocated on Channel 12, would have to limit its signal to avoid interfering with Jackson.

In most, but not all cities, the public TV stations were an afterthought, after the big networks had their affiliates. Often the NET, later PBS, station was on UHF, while the big boys were on VHF. Luckily New Orleans had four VHF allocations.

Another oddity in New Orleans, speaking about public television. The big university, Loyola, run by Jesuit fathers of the Catholic Church, got into broadcasting, not with public radio and television, but with commercial stations. WWL 870 is a long-time CBS Radio affiliate and WWL-TV 4 became New Orleans' CBS television affiliate. It came on the air AFTER WYES had already been established. One of the few examples of a public TV station signing on before the market had its third commercial station.

I believe that Screen Gems, who owned WVUE, was able to put Channel 8 on a higher tower, allowing it to have the same broadcasting footprint as the other two VHF stations. WYES, on Channel 12, was superior to their signal on Channel 8, which was relegated to a lesser tower. Therefore, both stations improved their signal and possible audience.

Also, since Nashville and New Orleans are both in the Central Time Zone, their ABC prime time programmings ended at 11:00 like in the Eastern and Pacific Zones.

t made sense in the summer due to reruns airing at that time of the year.

38 News

Noticed in the description of "The Ed Sullivan Show" the names Noonan and Marshall; they were Tommy Noonan and Peter Marshall (yes, the master of "The Hollywood Squares"). You may have run across a movie they made in 1959, an Army comedy called "The Rookie."

When Merrill Heatter was looking for a host for "Squares" (Bert Parks hosted the pilot but was not at his best), he approached Marshall after seeing him on a Kellogg's cereal commercial. Marshall had done a short-lived local game show in LA and was reluctant to do a network game show. So Heatter approached Dan Rowan. When Marshall heard about this, he very strongly convinced Heatter to give him the job. The reason? When Noonan was on his deathbed, Rowan had said some uncomplimentary things about him that didn't sit well at all with Marshall, and Marshall was determined to hurt Rowan every way he could. Didn't quite work out that way, or have we all forgotten "Laugh-In"?

From what I recollect, Dan Rowan was not a very pleasant chap to work with.

More info regarding "Hail to the Chief" (9:30 on ABC, Ch. 2), it was produced with a similar format to the groundbreaking 1977-81 series "Soap", which was by the same producers Paul Junger Witt, Tony Thomas, and Susan Harris, the latter of which was also the creator. However, the series lasted only seven episodes, and that night's episode was its third.

Would love to see the schedule for the Saturday of that week

Will put that up there when I have the chance.

Thanx

That fall, WAGA would clear The $25,000 Pyramid on a half hour delay (keeping Press Your Luck off in Atlanta since they had Love Connection at 10). That lasted to January when CBS revived Card Sharks and WAGA cleared it in pattern. Jeopardy! moved to 4 in the afternoon.

I always liked how WSB kept Ryan's Hope at 12:30 despite ABC moving Loving there. Other stations should have kept Ryan's Hope there (instead of Noon) and not displaced it for Loving...

I know that WOI in Des Moines aired Ryans Hope at 11 and Loving at 11:30. Once Ryan's Hope got canceled they aired Loving at 11:30 for awhile but replaced it with News at 11:30. 11am had Match Game, Ghrhm Kerr and other syndicated shows at 11am sometimes airing Loving at 11am but then taking it off for other shows. So Loving was on and off and on and off the schedule for the rest of the time it aired.

Chain Reaction would of course meets its end in June as Fred Silverman took umbrage at a joke subject on the $20,000 Pyramid finale, "Hit Shows on NBC-TV" (both shows were Bob Stewart shows). For a show that ran only 5-1/2 months, it's curious that Chain Reaction would see four revivals since then.

TV Worth Watching and TV Worth Paying For!!

Back then, I think Joan Rivers was the ONLY program on the brand new Fox network.

It was, until April 5 when Married...With Children and the Tracy Ullmann Show premiered.

For the record (no pun intended), the guest performers on American Bandstand were Arthur Conley and Smokestack Lightnin' (band). It's likely that Miami received those ABC shows pre-empted from channel 10 on West Palm Beach affiliate WEAT channel 12.

WTVJ's Forest Rangers at 8 AM pre-empted The Go-Go Gophers from CBS.

How odd that 6 a VHF independent station, WCIX 6, only signs on at 3pm? The Fort Lauderdale UHF independent is on by 9:30am. This is 1969, not 1959. Nearly all homes had a TV in the 1960s and Miami wasn't THAT small a market. It wasn't as large as it is today but it was still Florida's largest market.

Same for WTHS 2. It's a non-commercial NET station. But again, it's on VHF. Every home could get it. I could understand a non-commercial station waiting to sign on until Saturday and Sunday evening in those days, since on weekdays, it probably ran classroom programming in the daytime. But not to be on the air AT ALL on weekends?

Up until the early 70s, it was more commonplace for NET/PBS stations to have one or both weekends off.

Moreso about Miami's Channel 2...

Up until 1979, it was a time-shared station, with what's now Miami-Dade County Public Schools and the Community Television Foundation of South Florida sharing ownership of the station. The school district also owned (and still does today) and launched then-WSEC Channel 17 as a secondary station in 1962. However in '79, Miami-Dade County Schools relinquished ownership of Channel 2 back to the Community Television Foundation, and focused on Channel 17 as their main TV operation. That same year, 2 was essentially "re-launched" with call letters--WTHS becoming WPBT, while 17 became WLRN-TV in 1973.

I think that's the WPIX-syndicated newscast (which WAS known as USA Tonight at the time) and not USA Today on TV.

TheRolyPoly Productions, home of the SeriousXM newsletter.

Owner of three Sangean (HDR-14, WFR-39, and MMR-99), one Midland (ER50), one SiriusXM (Wi-Fi SS), and one Grace Digital (Mondo Elite) radio.

I think that's the WPIX-syndicated newscast (which WAS known as USA Tonight at the time) and not USA Today on TV.

You're right, it was. Just Googled that info. I had to finish my Sunday schedule to respond to you. Otherwise, my reply would've been imbedded in that schedule.

USA Tonight was what was formerly INN News, taking that new name on January 12, 1987.

4:30 am - Studio Wrestling

Wow! Wrestling aired at 4:30 a.m.? I lived in the Mid-South for a few years, leaving in 1981, and I can tell you that wrestling on WMC was red-hot in terms of viewer interest back then, airing live from the Channel 5 studio for 90 minutes every Saturday morning from 10:30 to noon, IIRC (might have been 10 to 11:30, memory is fuzzy). I'm surprised they didn't opt out of Wimbledon's first Saturday (third round) and show wrestling live, or the Olympic Showcase and air a taped wrestling show in the afternoon.

Any schedules from WPTY 24 or WMKW 30?

Didn't USWA Championship Wrestling air at 11am on Saturdays at that time until September 1997?

That was what the Memphis promotion became. When I was down there, Memphis (Jarrett/Welch) recognized the AWA championship and the CWA (Continental Wrestling Association) championship. I believe the USWA was created in the late '80s.

That's right, but Wimbledon Tennis was a national NBC tennis championship held in late June and early July at that time.

It wasn't and isn't a "national NBC championship." It's a London tournament that's the third tournament in tennis' Grand Slam and it's still held during those two weeks. Tennis was less of a niche sport in 1981 than it is now, but the first Saturday isn't the semifinals or finals. That's why I figured that a station in Memphis could pre-empt tennis for its wildly popular studio wrestling show. Memphis never struck me as a big market for "country club" sports like tennis and golf.

Oh, I'm sorry, I meant the London tournament airs in the USA nationally on NBC during late June and early July.

WMC was notorious about picking up major league baseball games on NBC in progress after rasslin' finished on Saturdays. I'm surprised they didn't do this with Wimbledon as well, unless NBC put pressure on them to carry it.

Retro syndicated weeknight "checkerboard" schedules (game shows, sitcoms)

If you can remember back during weeknights, usually at 7:30 (6:30 Central and Mountain Time), there were different syndicated shows in that timeslot, consisting of game shows in the '70s, and first-run sitcoms in the '80s on at least one station in that market.

1970s game show checkerboard schedules at 7:30 on KXTV 10 Sacramento

NOTE: All of these shows were preceded by Concentration (Jack Narz) at 7:00.

In Iowa there were no first run sitcoms in the 6:30pm time slot as they aired on weekends. The networks aired game shows Win, Lose or Draw (1987-88) on ABC TV 5 and Wheel of Fortune (til 1990) on CBS tv 8. NBC tv 13 aired reruns of sitcoms like Night Court or Cheers. KDSM tv 17 aired the A-Team then for a few years at 6pm till it moved to 1pm then at 6:30pm they aired A Current Affair.

CORRECTION: The 1986-87 Monday slot was actually reruns of Square Pegs until the new first-run Charles in Charge took over on January 12, 1987.

I'm kinda wondering when syndie Dawson Family Feud moved from KXTV to KOVR over in Sac...

i do know the current syndication of Family Feud first originally aired on KAMR back in 1999.

Just a year later in September 1978, as KXTV launched their version of PM Magazine.

Much like how, in SF, syndie Feud was only on KRON its first season before switching to KPIX...

Here are the 7:30 pm first-run syndicated checkerboard schedules from KRON 4 (then NBC), KPIX 5 (CBS), and KGO 7 (ABC) (post-Monday Night Football season) during my time in the San Francisco Area (1973-80).

"$100,000" was added to the Name That Tune title in September 1976.

Much like how, in SF, syndie Feud was only on KRON its first season before switching to KPIX...

Similarly with Dennis James' Price is Right switching from KPIX to KRON for his last season before Bob Barker took over the year after.

Turns out I was wrong about KRON (San Francisco) not having a weeknight 7:30 p.m. checkerboard schedule for 1978-79. Here it is:

M: Consumer Buyline (David Horowitz)

Tu: The Cheap Show (Dick Martin)

W: The $1.98 Beauty Show (Rip Taylor)

Th: Bonkers (Hudson Brothers)

F: Please Stand By (sitcom)

Tic-Tac-Dough moved to KRON's 7:30 slot on March 5, 1979, moving from KBHK at 6:30.

Under KSBY, I accidentally omitted "the Marsha Warfield Show" at 10:30 AM, followed by "Kate & Allie" at 11:00. Also, KNBC's 11:30 AM listing should be "Generations", not "Marsha Warfield Show" As for Donahue, the Los Angeles times listed KNBC's Donahue episode as "the Persian Gulf crisis" for their topic, and no info on KSBY or KNSD's episodes.

The newspaper schedules have unmatching schedules for that day between "Tom & Jerry Kids" and "Peter Pan & the Pirates" on the two Fox stations (KTTV and XETV). Were they on a rotating basis on different days of the week?

Still Love the best in Television programming on KPBS San Diego, Especially when Showcase Week premiered new series and new seasons of PBS programs!!

I forgot to list the normal schedules for the CBS stations that were altered by the NLCS game.

The KCAL kids was a completely different show than K-mouse with Danny Breen. The KCAL kids was hosted by 3 kids and they had adventures in Disneyland and hosted cartoons.

Thanks for that corrective info. What was the name of that K-Mouse show? Also, do I have the correct title for the 6:00 AM newscast?

The show was called K-mouse. It has it's own IMDB page. K-Mouse. . I have no idea about the news.

11:30 Final Sign-Off (In place of the National Anthem film, was a video of WKBS employees saying farewell accompanied by a few instrumental lines of "Auld Lang Syne" and the last few lines of Simon & Garfunkel's "The Sound of Silence")

Was there any attempt to save this station?

Field Communications, which had absorbed Kaiser Broadcasting, had dissolved itself. Its other stations had been sold off, but nobody wanted WKBS. They had no choice but to close the station, as it would have no owner to operate it.

I wouldn't say nobody wanted WKBS.

But any potential buyers either wouldn't meet Field's asking price, or couldn't place a bid due to FCC rules that were in effect (such as the then-limit of seven stations per group owner.) What Field got in closing WKBS down was a tax write-off.

By turning in the license and taking channel 48 dark, Field did a real disservice to viewers in Philadelphia and the Delaware Valley. They could and should have kept the station going for at least another year, found a buyer, and who knows...come 1986, WKBS could have become "Fox 48"...the scene would have been very different.

Channels 17 and 23 have the distinction as being two of a handful of other TV stations across the nation that were, one at a point in time, primary affiliate stations of ABC, CBS, and NBC. As it's been broken down in this thread, 17 was originally with ABC starting in 1959, when it first went on the air, then in 1974 swapped to CBS, and then ten years later joined NBC.

KERO started with NBC when it went on the air in 1953, moved from channel 10 to 23 in '63, then the aforementioned swap with KGET in '84, and finally joined ABC in 1996, swapping networks with KBAK. For what it's worth, KBAK had ABC from 1974 to '96, but were book-ended by CBS affiliations (1953-'74 and 1996 to the present).

As an aside, WBRC Birmingham has the distinction as the only TV station in America to affiliate full-time, again at one point or another, with NBC (1949-54), CBS ('54-'61), ABC ('61-'96), and Fox ('96-present).

Boston's channel 7 (WNAC, WNEV, WHDH) is another that's been affiliated with all of the big 3, and could yet end up with Fox.

WTTV/4 Bloomington/Indianapolis has also been a primary affiliate of all three majors, plus UPN and WB/CW.

NBC: 1949-56 (Ch 10, 1949-54)

ABC: 1956-57

UPN: 1995-98

WB: 1998-2006

CW: 2006-14

CBS: Since 2015

Friday, March 1, 1996 - Channels 23 and 29 swap their affiliations in which they maintain to this day. Currently, all listings from before 6:00 PM are unavailable online.

Interesting that The Yellow Rose aired right after Knight Rider initially. It was supposed to be NBC's answer to Dallas and starred David Soul and Cybill Shepherd, but it ultimately ended up airing in a dismal

Saturday night time slot and flopped. NBC later made the same mistake with Berenger's the following season.

No big loss for Cybill though as her big comeback would finally come two years later with Moonlighting.

If you can recall, all of NBC's 1983 fall premieres failed to survive that season. Night Court, Riptide, and TV's Bloopers and Practical Jokes, which premiered the following January, were the network's three season survivors.

Yep!! NBC's 1983-84 season and CBS's 1997-98 season share that very dubious distinction, both occurring right before each network was reinvigorated.

Vaguely recall NBC's Monitor, envisioning it as a TV edition of their weekend variety radio show of the same name. Loved listening to the radio show as a kid...heard songs as recognizable as Paul McCartney's "Another Day" and then hear something like the Irish Rovers' "Lily the Pink."

Guerreros Místicos ("Mythic Warriors") is officially ended on Toonturama block, it was replaced by the four new cartoon series with the Spanish-dubbed version such as "The Twisted Tales of Felix the Cat", "Bruno the Kid", "Mortal Kombat: Defenders of the Realm" and the anime series, "Red Baron", which is premiered the following week in 2003.

Also, "La Cuchufleca" was misspelled wrong for my mistake type of texting schedule, instead, it was correct was "La Cuchufleta".

Yeep, I almost misread that 12 noon movie wrong. I was thinking of "The Savage Is Loose," a movie George C. Scott did in 1974 (which is either about family love if you follow Scott's interpretation of the film or about incest if you follow the critics).

On WATL, Jonny Quest, Godzilla and Flash Gordon were delayed from Saturday on NBC as WXIA pre-empted them.

Thanks for pointing that out.

And I made a mistake. It was WSB that pre-empted those shows. The station hadn't made the switch to ABC yet (they would on Labor Day) and it'd be a week or so when they and WXIA parceled out NBC and ABC daytime shows to each other.

Retro: Buffalo - Wednesday, June 1, 1983

The short-lived but well-received sitcom "Buffalo Bill", starring Dabney Coleman as the egotistical Buffalo TV talk show host "Buffalo" Bill Bittinger debuts on NBC. After its premature cancellation (final episode aired March 29, 1984), then-NBC President Brandon Tartikoff wrote in his memoirs that it was his "biggest professional regret".

On this date: Tuesday March 15th, 1977 where many PBS stations including my own station: KPBS San Diego continue the Festival '77 Membership Pledge Drive with the world premiere of Live from the Met (New PBS opera Series): La Boheme, and is part of PBS' 15-night Festival '77 pledge drive, which continues through Sunday March 20th, 1977!! Festival' 77: Some Great Things to See on Public TV!!

So "Live from the Met" was the official title, and was La Boheme their very first broadcast?

Yes, I've read it from Newspapers.com and from this link:

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Live_from_the_Metropolitan_Opera

That's where I get most of these schedules from, along with genealogybank.com.

Great. And That's where Live from the Met: La Boheme featured the greatest tenor Luciano Pavarotti and this program grew a wonderful response during the Festival '77 Pledge Drive!!

Do you have a source/more info about 'The Tonight Show' cancelling plans for a live show on that date?

I always find the Sacramento stations daytime line ups to be odd and unusual. As the 80s and 90s and 00s there of course lots of pre-emotions.

KCRA didn't bother to air the long running soap The Doctors at all yet aired the short lived failed soap Lovers & Friends.

KOVR didn't air All My Children until the very end of the line at 3:30 after Edge of Nighr. All My Children would expand to one hour the following month in April 1977 so I wonder what the schedule looked like then.

Do you have a source/more info about 'The Tonight Show' cancelling plans for a live show on that date?

The newspapers at that time said so.

The newspapers at that time said so.

Thanks, found an article from that day's Washington Post, which confirmed Jimmy Stewart's appearance(Sinatra rescheduled, and appeared in November).

A quick note...

The Full House showing at 10am on KDNL came from NBC (and obviously pre-empted on KSDK, along with most of NBC's mid-morning lineup during that time--a returning daytime Wheel of Fortune, Classic Concentration, TrialWatch), as they had the daytime reruns of that sitcom briefly during this particular summer. Reruns of Full House would premiere in off-network syndication a few months later.

St Elsewhere reruns ran on a PBS station? Interesting...

You made a typo.

I presume KMOV-4 aired the "CBS Evening News" and not "NBC Nightly News", which was on KSDK-5.

I just put the St. Louis schedule from July 15 of that year, in memory of Bert Convy, a St. Louis native who died that day.

Umm one important correction: but 10/1/82 was not the premiere date for Knight Rider, it was actually earlier in the week on Sunday 9/26/82 as a two hour premiere.

I double checked my hard copy of the Primetime Directory to be sure. Now the premiere date for Remington Steele is correct. Perhaps the newspaper made an error?

Both shows initially had a hard time making headway against #2 Dallas and #8 Falcon Creat NBC would eventually move them around later in the season were both eventually were successful and made David Hasselhoff and Pierce Bronsan household names.

Meanwhile ABC aired Battle of the Network Stars like it was still the 70's LOL.

My extreme bad! However, 10/1/82 was the date of the first Knight Rider episode following its 9/26 premiere, if that's of any consolation. I think that was the first Battle of the Network Stars I watched! I was starting to watch prime time TV again by that season. For the previous two seasons, I usually started with my homework after the syndicated game show blocks (i.e. Joker's Wild, Tic-Tac-Dough).

Oh no worries haha just figured you should know so you find a 9/26/82 schedule to post as well! ☐

In the late 70's I remember my parents always watched the Battle of the Network Stars which I thought was fun but by 1982 wasn't something I would have been interested in watching—I would have been watching CBS on Friday night before going out with friends as these were my college days....I recall this season premieres had random Duke cousins introduced instead of Bo & Luke on Dukes of Hazzard, the aftermath of Jock's death on Dallas, while Falcon Crest's season premiere introduced the treacherous Richard Channing who would be the show's main villain until the series end.

Retro: Los Angeles - Sunday, September 26, 1982

After my goof regarding Knight Rider's premiere date, here is the ACTUAL premiere date schedule from LA.

I could be mistaken, but I believe the Harlem Globetrotters show (7:30 AM, ch. 10) was the live action Harlem Globetrotters Popcorn Machine, which with the Hudson Brothers Razzle Dazzle Show got relegated to Sunday mornings in their second season.

I think you're right about that. I just Wiki'ed that info.

The Globetrotters cartoon reappeared on NBC at midseason of the 1977-78 season under the umbrella title Go Go Globetrotters (which repackaged several other shows--The Herculoids, Motormouse & Autocat and The C.B. Bears--in a two-hour block).

I remember the latter two, along with Undercover Elephant, shown on Captain Kangaroo during its final two years (1982-84) in their weekend format.

Will any broadcast network blow out hour after hour of regular programming on July 4th, 2026 to present (mostly live) coverage of events celebrating America's 250th anniversary?

With July 4th, 2026 being on a Saturday, I could see the major broadcast networks only carrying a few hours of coverage and mostly stick to their regular Saturday afternoon sports schedules.

Also, it's my understanding that when bicentennial plans were first made in the early 1970's, Philadelphia was to have hosted a world's fair, while the space program was to have had a doubleheader: The first manned launch of the space shuttle in the morning and the landing of the unmanned Viking 1 probe on Mars that night.

But there would be no world's fair in Philadelphia. The space shuttle quickly fell behind schedule, and in the end, wouldn't fly until April, 1981. Viking 1 was orbiting Mars, but due to relatively minor problems, the landing was delayed by several days.

It turned out that the marquee event that day was an evening concert on the banks of Boston's Charles River, where the Boston Pops performed. I do know CBS carried the final part of the show (with the Pops' performances of "1812 Overture" and "Stars And Stripes Forever", both accompanied by fireworks), making the Boston Pops' July 4th concert the focal point of the nation's celebration, a status that for the most part it has retained.

I happened to watch CBS and saw live the conclusion of that concert, but I don't know if either ABC or NBC also carried it.

Thank you for sharing!

CBS' coverage looks extremely over the top in retrospect lol I know if I was in Philly at the time I would have liked WKBS' airing Speed Racer and Underdog much better.

My mother was not wrong when she predicted that I'd remember the Bicentennial forever. There are many moments that seem magical, even so many years later: the fireworks on the National Mall, the Tall Ships in New York Harbor, and a beautiful Sunday evening neighborhood block party in my neighborhood. But the celebrations were also awash with commerciality. I remember one ad that showed Paul Revere riding through town drinking Coca-Cola out of a bottle and a British redcoat sliding into base after a hit. But the reality was the country was just ready for a big party in the aftermath of Watergate and Vietnam.

I highly doubt the upcoming Semiquincentennial will have the same impact or have much programming devoted to it. Maybe at most a PBS documentary and one or two specials on a streaming service.

CNN wasn't around in 1976 to do wall to wall coverage. My guess is one broadcast network (which doesn't have any major sprig events to televise) will do extensive coverage. There is a national organization and local organization in Philly already working on plans for America 250. Locally in Philly NBC10 (and before that WPVI) preempt network programming the evening of July 4th every year for a local Welcome America concert and fireworks

Have TV listings for Independence Day 1976 from New York City, Boston / Providence as well?

Seems appropriate for those markets from that day to be mentioned, as well as Washington, DC.

Governors who appeared on "Meet the Press":

Robert Ray (R-IA)

Michael Dukakis (D-MA)

Wendell Anderson (D-MN)

Milton Shapp (D-PA)

Mills Godwin (R-VA)

The only major sport that would likely be in season on July 4, 2026 is MLB. I wouldn't be surprised to see at least two MLB games air nationally.

I'm sure that the networks will plan extensive coverage for the 250th. on July 4th., 2026!

No syndicated Wheel in Reno?

Not yet, at least. It didn't even start airing on any of the LA stations until March 5, 1984! That move bumped The Joker's Wild and Tic-Tac-Dough back to KHJ (now KCAL) ch. 9 after two and a half years on KCOP ch. 13 where the syndie Wheel started.

Was WGPR still carrying CBS This Morning when they switched to CBS?

Yes they were! :)

An odd schedule. They carried a lot of religious shows (including a post-scandal Robert Tilton), CBS This Morning, Santa Barbara, and Family Feud (at the low point of the Ray Combs era)

This would have been several weeks after a labor dispute between WGPR-TV news staffers (which unionized with the UAW) and station general manager George Mathews which resulted in the cancellation of their local newscasts. That might explain the "TBA" portions. By this point The New Dance Show was the only locally-produced weekday show left on the schedule.

BTW, yours truly and @Sammi Brie recently redid the Wikipedia article on WWJ-TV, including a lot on WGPR-TV:

MIDNIGHT LaHayes Family

Today more Newscast and stations in area.

More networks too.

4 WDAF (NBC)

11:30 Late Night With David Letterman - Guests: Gerry Lopez (champion surfer), Doug Kershaw (violinist)

At some point, WDAF-TV would start preempting Late Night by 30min & filling that timeslot with stuff like Entertainment Tonight.

9 KMBC (ABC)

9:00 I Love Lucy

9:30 My Three Sons

3:30 All in the Family

4:00 Chico and the Man

4:30 Welcome Back, Kotter

11:00 Barney Miller

11:30 All in the Family

12:30 Love Boat

I wonder how long KMBC-TV had these shows as, by the late 80's, most of them had moved to KSHB-TV.

49 KYFC (Religious Ind.)

KYFC-TV was actually on Ch. 50.

That's what I meant to put for that channel number. Brain slip, I guess.

Corrections regarding "America Held Hostage": It was Day 230, and it was 20 minutes long, so Fridays actually started at 11:50.

I think I once heard somewhere that in 1966, when ABC's evening TV newscast was still 15 minutes long, that KABC-7 actually ran it at 5:30 PST, inside of their 5-6 P.M. news block.

I think WABC-7 New York may have also done that in the mid 1960's, embedding the then-15 minute network newscast at 6:30 (?), within a news block from 6 to 7.

1966 weekdays had some great shows for kids in Southern Calif especially channels 11 and 13. Capt. Kangaroo, Mr. Wishbone, Hobo Kelly, Romper Room, Sheriff John, Bozo's Big Top & Winchell Mahoney. I didn't see Engineer Bill, wasn't he on back then 5 or 6 evenings?

Engineer Bill was on KHJ up until 1966 (as to when it ended isn't known). I recall him from my salad days as a child as he screened Spunky & Tadpole which for all its shoestring budgets was must-see TV for me.

I just checked the LA Times archives, and Engineer Bill's last show was on July 1, 1966.

Correction II: "America Held Hostage" became "Nightline" on March 24.

Ah, the Pyramid finale. The telecast that got Fred Silverman's goat.

What about Sunday's(6/29) listings?

They're coming. Will put them up tonight.

Saturday, June 28

2 WBBM (CBS)

5:00 Horse Racing: Susan's Girl Handicap, from Arlington Park in Arlington Heights, IL (northwest of Chicago)

The recently-closed race track that could be the future home of the Chicago Bears before the end of this decade. The team recently bought the property several months ago, but although they haven't made a definite statement yet about a new stadium in Arlington Heights, all signs are them moving to the northwest suburbs of Chicago.

Just read about that in the Wikipedia article about the track.

Ah, the Pyramid finale. The telecast that got Fred Silverman's goat.

As well as the Hollywood Squares finale the week before?

The Pyramid finale concluded with Dick Clark revealing gag subjects on the Pyramid boxes like "Oil Companies in Bankruptcy" and "Famous Japanese Rabbis." One of them was "Hit Shows on NBC-TV," which Silverman found out about. In retaliation, Silverman canceled Chain Reaction, which like Pyramid was a Bob Stewart show.

this was actually Wednesday, December 9, 1992.

No, it was Sunday, December 6, 1992.

That's correct it is, obviously the OP made a typo in the title.

I am actually surprised KITN rerun Yo Yogi LOL. I mentioned recently in another thread I remember when it premiered I was working at an NBC station at the time and it was DREADFUL. No wonder NBC dumped cartoons not long after.

I thought it was better for NBC to just have teen comedies instead of cartoons.

Oh LOL I don't know about that but then what do I know. California Dreams and Saved By The Bell: The New Class were never must watch TV, but they ran for a long time and The New Class actually ran longer than the original.

Retro: Philadelphia - 'Rocky' film premiere dates

Rocky

Tuesday, December 21, 1976

Although Rocky premiered in New York City exactly a month before, and much of the rest of the US on December 3, it didn't premiere in Rocky's hometown of Philadelphia until that date, according to the Philadelphia Inquirer and Daily News (via newspapers.com). Incidentally, it premiered in Boston just the following day.

8:00 Charlie & Company - Starring Flip Wilson and Gladys Knight (intended to be CBS's answer to The Cosby Show; lasted only that one season)

The eldest and youngest sons on this series, respectively, were played by Kristoff St. John (best known for his run on The Young & the Restless, before his passing in 2019) and Jaleel White. St. John had actually guest-starred the year before as one of Denise Huxtable's boyfriends on a Cosby Show episode. Another notable cast member in Charlie & Company was Terry McGovern, who a few years later did the voice of Launchpad McQuack on Disney's original DuckTales and Darkwing Duck.

Another Y&R/Family Matters connection--Bryton James (AKA Bryton McClure); he played the Winslows' young nephew Richie Crawford on FM, and has played portrayed Devon Hamilton on Y&R since 2004. On the latter, he is/was the adopted son to St. John's Neil Winters character.

WOIO not WXIX. WXIX is in Cincinnati.

Correct, though for awhile they were both "Fox 19".

They have actually sister stations since WOIO's founding in 1985 (WXIX signed on in 1971), as both were owned by Malrite Communications, which was then sold to Raycom, which was then sold to Gray Television.

9:00 a.m.: Larry Elder

Is that the same Larry Elder who launched a talk show in 2004.

Indeed it is.

Elder came to Cleveland in the late 70s after he graduated law school, joining a law firm and would start his own firm in the early 80s.

Elder had hosted a public affairs show on Cleveland PBS station WVIZ channel 25 in the late 80s, and then migrated over to WOIO soon thereafter.

So as a media personality, he got his start in Cleveland, eventually going back to his native Los Angeles and hitting it big nationally.

Yes it's the same Larry Elder who is known for his roles in Los Angeles such as being a talk show host on KABC-AM and Salem Radio Network before he became a gubernatorial candidate for California.

3:00 Oprah Winfrey

Huh? At last check, the show didn't debut until September of 1986.

The date of these logs are from November 1986.

Whoops! I thought the title of this post said 1985.

Three hours of Jim and Tammy Faye on KAIL each weekday!

Praise The Lord on KAIL had nothing to do with Jim Bakker (though he did work with TBN for the first year they existed back in 74 before starting his own ministry) but was the show produced by TBN. Jim Bakker just used PTL Club standing for Praise The Lord Club. Still PTL Club and Praise teh Lord were two different shows Wasn't PTL Club alternately titled the Jim Bakker Show, later the Jim and Tammy Show?

WFLD did not get Flintstones until 1981. That show was Fred Flintstone and Friends on WFLD while WGN

still had Flintstones

The Chicago Tribune listed "Flintstones" for both Channels 9 and 32, so there was no way of telling which was which.

I believe ABC had their Saturday kidvid preview the next evening.

As did NBC, in the same timeslot.

I believe Channel 48 put Adam 12 at 7 PM for a double run beginning that week - putting Star Trek to weekends as well. Channel 29 resumed 7 AM or earlier sign ons that next Monday. In Philadelphia Channels 48 and 29 had before 7 AM sign ons during the fall but after Christmas they reverted to 9 or 10 AM sign ons from 1974 to 1977. Channel 29 would continue pre 7 AM sign ons from then going forward starting that Monday the 12th. Channel 48 though would revert to 10 AM sign ons December 19 and would not resume 6 AM sign ons until Labor Day 1978. After that they too continued early morning sign ons. Channel 17 would begin 7 AM sign ons in the fall of 1978.

That's kind of odd but strange, Raleigh's Fox 50 had aired Jerry Falwell's Old Time Gospel Hour aired weekdays at 2:00 p.m. back in 2005!?

looks it to be the case.

Dance 360 seems like one of those workout tape infomercials.

"The Call In" phrases are likely KQED 9 membership breaks meaning another pledge night for KQED in 1973. 1973 was the year where the Watergate Hearings took place for many PBS stations and they conducted pledge nights for saving the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, even my local PBS station: KPBS San Diego even conducted pledge nights during the Watergate Hearings!!

That's possible.

Great schedule of classic TV.

I'm looking for New York City TV Schedules from any Thanksgiving day or weekend as well.

I happen to be planning that for the 1983 Thanksgiving Week after I complete this one. That week featured some very significant TV moments, including "The Day After", the "Kennedy" miniseries, and Sesame Street's "Farewell Mr. Hooper" episode from Thanksgiving. Like they say, stay tuned!

Didn't ABC have their day after Thanksgiving block of Saturday morning shows? That was a tradition for them.

Not always, i remember in 1995 they showed a college football game, North Carolina @ NC State instead. They also showed Boston College @ Rutgers too so it was regional coverage of college football.

Yeah, I think ABC stopped showing their kids shows the day after Thanksgiving in the late 70s, I think.

Didn't ABC have their day after Thanksgiving block of Saturday morning shows? That was a tradition for them.

Not during that year. Besides they had their Saturday morning fare on that day, with a couple of NCAA football game in between.

Addendum regarding CBS's All-American Thanksgiving Day Parade correspondents

Joining William Conrad was 1973 Miss Teenage America Melissa Galbraith (of Pennsylvania) whose reign ended the following Saturday (see ch. 5 at 10:00 PM).

The correspondents at each of the parades were as follows:

New York (Macy's) - Bob Barker and Lee Meriwether

Philadelphia (Gimbels) - Ed Asner and Gail Fisher

Detroit (Hudson's) - June Lockhart and Jack Whitaker

Toronto (Eaton's) - Dick Clark and Lucie Arnaz

Being a kid, in the Kansas City area without cable\satellite tv, at the time, I was watching this lineup, on this TV station at the time.

KMBC 9 (ABC)

4:35 sign-off

I think that by 1999, KMBC was on the air 24/7. They were only off the air for about 25min a week at this time, I think. Unfortunately I don't know if they showed a test pattern at the time.

Friday/Saturday at 1 AM on Ch. 5.

Why so late?

My best guess would be competition with NBC's then-new "Friday Night Videos".

Breakaway was a syndicated talk show jointly by Metromedia and Group W. So it ran on Group W and Metromedia stations. Other markets it likely ran on the station that had Hour Magazine. The show held its own for a little while but wound up failing and was ended the Summer of 84

Ah! Thank you!

I keep seeing these Gettysburg TV schedules and I am surprised that neither KYW and WPVI are included in the schedules even though they were available in that area on Comcast at the time.

Even a broken clock is right twice a day...

Courage couldn't have come at a worse time...

If there is one thing in this world that makes grown adults act like immature buffoons it is the discussion of politics

Fun fact about "Gay Purr-ee" (2 PM, ch. 2): Chuck Jones protege Abe Levitow directed it and Jones himself moonlighted on the script. For that, Jones got fired from Warner Bros. (the film was made at UPA studios, the folks behind Mr. Magoo).

That's funny. In Celebration of US was supposed to air live in all time zones with the Pacific Time Zone continuing until 11 p.m. local time. This suggests that the program could have been tape delayed for playback in that time zone.

That's always possible.

Retro: Los Angeles - November 5, 6 & 8, 1955

Why CBS's West Coast flagship didn't air "Captain Kangaroo" from its October 3 premiere is beyond me. Might it have something to do with the time difference due to it being produced in New York? It did start airing on Channel 2, on Saturdays only, on August 4, 1956, and finally on a daily basis on January 13, 1958.

I wonder what New York City TV had to offer on those same days?

You can look them up in either the New York Daily News in newspapers.com or the New York Times' 'Times Machine'.

Interesting that LA's ABC affiliate didn't start up until the afternoon on weekends (and the indie stations even later) at this late date. Plus the news listing for Cleve Roberts reminds us he wasn't just the guy who appeared as a reporter on those episodes of "MASH".

Love the excellent programs on KPBS San Diego, especially the sign ons and sign offs, TV Worth Watching and TV Worth Paying For!!

You must really love KPBS I take it.

My dad was a big fan of Wall $treet Week with Louis Rekeyser and his elves!

That's My local station I grew up with.

More like an unhealthy obsession of KPBS, I suppose.

Well not that unhealthy feeling I guess, but in other words, it brings me back memories

No XEWT's programming on this post

It wasn't listed in the Escondido Times-Advocate where I got this from. But they are in the San Diego Union, so "aqui esta" (here it is).

POP MUSIC TOP TEN LISTS

Solid Gold - from Radio & Records

Note: The episode aired as listed above was actually from the week before (December 5).

1. HERE I AM (JUST WHEN I THOUGHT I WAS OVER YOU) - Air Supply
2. PHYSICAL - Olivia Newton-John
3. OH NO - The Commodores
4. WAITING FOR A GIRL LIKE YOU - Foreigner
5. EVERYTHING LITTLE THING SHE DOES IS MAGIC - The Police
6. DON'T STOP BELIEVIN' - Journey
7. TRYING TO LIVE MY LIFE WITHOUT YOU - Bob Seger (performed by co-host Andy Gibb)
8. YOUNG TURKS - Rod Stewart
9. THE OLD SONGS - Barry Manilow
10. NO REPLY AT ALL - Genesis

America's Top 10 - from Billboard's Hot 100

1. PHYSICAL - Olivia Newton-John
2. WAITING FOR A GIRL LIKE YOU - Foreigner
3. EVERY LITTLE THING SHE DOES IS MAGIC - The Police
4. OH NO - The Commodores
5. LET'S GROOVE - Earth, Wind & Fire
6. YOUNG TURKS - Rod Stewart
7. HERE I AM (JUST WHEN I THOUGHT I WAS OVER YOU) - Air Supply

8. WHY DO FOOLS FALL IN LOVE? - Diana Ross

9. HARDEN MY HEART - Quarterflash

10. DON'T STOP BELIEVIN' - Journey

9:00 Perry Como's French-Canadian Christmas - Guests: Debby Boone, Dorothy Hamill, Diane Tell, Andre Gagnon, St. Joseph's Boys Choir

I thought "isn't this kind of late for a Perry Como Christmas special", and it turns out they aired annually until 1986. It would have gone on further if Como had been willing to take unfavorable time slots for his specials.

12:30 NCAA Football - Division I-AA Playoffs: Eastern Kentucky vs. Boise State

A I-AA semifinal on network TV? (Other parts of the country showed the other semifinal or the Division II championship). For comparison, The FCS final only recently started airing on ABC--in January.

3:30 Carter Country

TV programmers must have really loved this show. It lasted only 2 years (1977-79), wasn't a hit in either, and launched no big stars. Yet for some reason it aired in weekend slots as late as the 90s.

On November 3, 1972, 3 days after this evening's episode of Bonanza aired, NBC announced the veteran western's cancellation after 14 seasons.

Chicago had two monochrome UHF stations in 1972! WCIU wouldn't go color until in 1974, after WXXW had gone off the air. Then again Chicago was also the last major city in the U.S. to get cable--in 1985.

Please post listings for Saturday 10/28/1972 and Sunday 10/29/1972.

I've already posted a Saturday and Sunday schedule from Chicago the previous month, September 16 and 17.

11:30 Saturday Night Live (Season Premiere) - Host: none; Musical guest: Rod Stewart; Also featured: A cameo by Andy Warhol, and Yoko Ono's "Season of Glass" (same name of her then-recently released album) film/music video memorial to husband John Lennon. Only season without Don Pardo as announcer during his lifetime. In his place was Mel Brandt.

Pardo claims the reason he didn't do this season was head writer Michael O'Donoghue disliked him. O'Donoghue even wanted Pardo to be fired on air, but when O'Donoghue was fired mid season that paved the way for Pardo's return.

I've read that that season, as well as the season before (1980-81), were considered the worst in SNL history.

If CBS can make one season of Dallas revealed to be a dream, then why not make an entire series?
Namely, the 'tres brillant' series finale of Newhart.

If you're wondering why WFXT is airing a daily mass, it's a leftover from its previous stint as a CBN station (which in some ways is as unusual as it airing on a secular station, but I digress...).

Plus kudos to WSBK for getting a 3 year old hit movie ("Baby Boom"). Your average indie TV station aired a lot creakier movies in prime time.

Lotta oddball time slots in these listings: MacNeil/Lehrer at 8am, Dr. Who at 6pm, and the gritty Australian drama "Prisoner: Cell Block H" in the afternoon (right before Bewitched!). Plus thanks for reminding me of PBS's "Art Cart". I remember that from childhood but there is no trace of it online and I was wondering if I had imagined it or it was a strictly local show.

Could you please name your source for these listings in the first post from now on? There is no way of knowing whether these listings come from a legitimate source otherwise.

Yes, I will. Sorry for not doing so. For these, they are the Buffalo News, Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, Ithaca Journal (from newspapers.com), and Syracuse Post Standard (from newspaperarchive.com). Again, my apologies for omitting my sources.

I tried messaging you, but it seems you don't allow that.

I'm adding the sources to my previous posts. I hope we're still good.

I hope I didn't offend you, by the way you're messaging. :confused:

Thank you. I am not offended and I hope I did not offend you.

From the way you phrased your reply, it seemed like an annoyed tone. I'm very fragile with such responses. Anyway, thanks for responding kindly.

As always, thanks for sharing @RandTV !!

Sad only WIXT aired Edge of Night and in an AM time slot at best.

WUHF's 9PM movie, Call Me Bwana was famous for its movie poster being seen in From Russia With Love along with the classic "she should have kept her mouth shut" after Bond shot a sniper hanging out of Anita Ekberg's mouth.

KTNT Channel 11, (now KSTW) twice a CBS affiliate, had a pretty nifty news product. I guess they are trying again but believe it is coming from California! Local news for Seattle from California. Disappointing.

I happen to be from California, but I can understand!

Yeah, I get it. Utilizing company stations for less cost. But it just seems abnormal to my 63 year old brain. Local news needs to be local, not two States away.

I'm with you on that.

Retro: San Antonio - Wednesday, November 6, 1985

Source: San Antonio Light via geneologybank.com

KRRT Channel 35 (now CW affiliate KMYS) signed on as San Antonio's first English-language independent general entertainment TV station. Prior to the launch, San Antonio was the nation's largest TV market without an independent station. The launch was originally scheduled for Monday, November 4, but bad weather delayed it for two days.

Actually, KMYS is now DABL with the CW on WOAI 4.2.

DABL meaning...

DABL isn't call letters, but the name of a network (the call letters of the station remain KMYS).

Think of the word dabble, as in dabbling in cooking and DIY projects.

DABL is a diginet that is basically Food Network meets HGTV, and airs the kind of stuff you would see on those networks.

Okay. I knew it wouldn't be call letters, since it doesn't start with either 'K' or 'W'. I thought DABL was initials. I just looked up the Wikipedia article.

KRRT was apparently trying to run on the cheap -- I notice that their entire daytime schedule from sign-on until 5 PM is entirely bartered or paid programming. Nothing that they had to pay cash to air until after 5 PM

This show was actually called 9 On Kansas City & was a local public affairs show which was hosted by KMBC-TV reporter Michael Maloney.

cbsfan95 said:

12:05 am - After*Words

This also a local show, hosted by KMBC-TV's, at the time, weekday morning meteorologist Joel Nichols where Joel would interview both Kansas City & national celebrities who happened to be stopping in the Kansas City area. When Joel Nichols moved from KMBC-TV to KSHB-TV, in 2015, he would host a similar show there called Nichols at Night which would occasionally air right after Saturday Night Live.

I thought Montel Williams didn't premiere until Fall 1991.

It turns to be part of a 'test run' in selected markets, starting June 24. St. Louis started theirs just the week before this day's schedule (July 8), replacing The Joker's Wild (w/ Pat Finn) and The Challengers (w/ Dick Clark).

Thanks for the info I never knew they did that back then. Everytime I look up info on old talk shows like Montel Williams it always showed September 30th for the start date.

For me, I look up vintage newspaper sites like newspapers.com or genealogybank.com which are where I get these schedules from.

The Full House reruns on KDNL were actually from NBC's Daytime schedule, preempted by KDSK. When Full House went into syndication that fall, ironically it went to KPLR instead.

Thanks for that info.

Regarding Montel, KCOP in Los Angeles was also one of the test markets for his show. KCOP's then parent company, Chris-Craft, one of the original producers of the Montel Show.

KMOV aired Y&R at 3PM and later at 4PM for a good 25 years until Meredith took over the station in 2015.

It had to be a drawl at 3pm ratings Y&R vs. Oprah.

A correction on Channel 41 and the 10am showings...

Three's a Crowd (the Three's Company continuation with John Ritter and minus everyone else) were airing reruns briefly on ABC during this period; the series was originally cancelled several months earlier by them in the previous TV season. ABC replaced the Three's a Crowd reruns in January 1986, with a new game show, Bruce Forsyth's Hot Streak; this show ran 13 weeks, and of course nationally (11am ET, 10am CT/PT), it was put against The Price is Right on CBS and Wheel of Fortune on NBC.

After Hot Streak was cancelled, ABC aired a "secondary" run of Robin Leach's Lifestyles of the Rich & Famous in the slot starting in April '86, and ran through the rest of the '85-86 TV season. The following TV season, Lifestyles was replaced by another series (a spinoff) with Leach (and co-host Matt Lauer)-- Fame, Fortune, and Romance.

All-Star Blitz, also another ABC short-lived game show aired nationally at 11:30am ET (10:30 C/P) during this time period, and was later replaced by a reboot of the anthology comedy series, Love, American Style, right around that Christmas.

Even though they are both Radio-Canada affiliates, not too far apart, it's interesting how many times CKRT and CJBR diverge in their schedules. These days, SRC affiliates are all fairly uniform in their schedules, even if, in each province, they run their own local newscasts.

Also interesting is what WAGM Presque Isle schedules. It is the only TV station north of Bangor and has all three networks to choose from. I thought it used to carry mostly CBS shows. Yet it doesn't carry the "CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite." It runs "World Tonight" which I guess is ABC? It also spends a lot of time with Rotary Auction? I guess that's a Thanksgiving fundraiser for the Rotary Club?

I also wondered why it was still running a prime time show at 11pm. Then I realized, this TV schedule is in Atlantic Time, while WAGM is in the Eastern Time Zone. So that's why, to someone in the Atlantic Time Zone, WAGM's schedule looks an hour incorrect.

There was a fascinating article in a 1977 issue of TV Guide about WAGM. Keith Fowles, who was operations director both then and in 1963, scheduled shows on a mix of personal taste, ratings, and northern Maine's supposed preference for family entertainment. Its schedule in 1977 had 9 hours of CBS in prime time, so CBS placed first without dominating the schedule.

I really enjoy these schedules from this area of the country set in the 70's & 80's.

Price Is Right was blacked put in San Francisco and Sacramento??

KPIX (SF) started blacking out TPIR on November 7 by expanding their news local talk show The Morning Show (later People Are Talking). KTZO (later KOFY) Ch. 20 started carrying TPIR for KPIX Dec. 8, 1980, and returned to KPIX Dec. 9, 1991 after People Are Talking's cancellation.

As for KXTV, they moved TPIR from 9:30 AM to 3:00 PM on May 9. On Sept. 19, KXTV blacked it out for Tattletales and Here's Lucy. TPIR returned to KXTV April 23, 1979, the same day CBS premiered the Tom Kennedy game show Whew!, which ironically did not air on KXTV. Instead, they aired reruns of The Joker's Wild (probably from early in its first syndicated season), and then The Liar's Club.

If you look at a lot of these schedules from the '70s into the '80s, and compare it even to the present day, it's a little shocking that Price didn't have 100-percent clearance across the entire CBS network during its first decade-plus on the daytime schedule. I recently saw another schedule from the early '80s that KLAS in Las Vegas didn't clear Price for at least a few years. I get that the 10am ET (9am CT/PT) hour being often the one on the network daytime schedule that often gets "sacrificed" for syndicated and/or local shows, but it wasn't often that Price that was preempted in certain cities.

On this same day where PBS stations including my own station: KPBS in San Diego kicked off the December 1977 Membership Pledge Drive called "A Different Picture for the Holidays" running Friday November 25th through Tuesday December 6th!! Where it premiered many specials like "The Merry Widow" from the San Diego Opera starring Beverly Sills, Hollywood on Trial, Delia Reese and Woody Herman in Concert, The Nancy Wilson Special, Festival in Vienna, The Snow Goose: An Ice Ballet, Big Bill: The Story of a Heron, A Gift to Last, Great Performances: "Sarah!", plus encore presentations like the Festival '76 pledge special of Boston Pops in Hollywood, plus PBS regular favorites and more...

9:00 CBS Special: "Rolling Stone: The 10th Anniversary"

The full airing of this special on KXTV can be found at

It was a flop so infamous that Rolling Stone posted an apology for the special soon afterward.

I have a feeling the game was tape-delayed, and possibly edited.

That would be my best guess, though the schedules in the papers I've listed as sources didn't say anything about the game being tape-delayed.

UPDATE: I've looked in the Philadelphia Inquirer, and saw that game on Friday against the Warriors started at 8:00 PM (5:00 PM California time), so the game was most likely joined in progress an hour later. KTVU ch. 2's listing has it for 2 hours rather than the usual 3.

11:35 The Duchess of Duke Street

If you're wondering why on earth KHJ was airing religious programming in Sunday prime time, its parent company RKO was fighting a long and eventually futile battle over the station license. The station was nearly broke and (much like fellow RKO station WOR) had to take money where it could find it.

There were points, at least during the '70s and 80s based upon the schedules (and a little bit of memory), where Channels 9 and 13 aired religious programming on Sunday nights for many years. It was until later in the decade that both stations aired general entertainment programming (usually a movie or hour-long dramas) in the late-evening hours.

The real saving grace for KHJ back in those days were the Laker road telecasts they had (and this was third season of the "Showtime" era), they also some Kings road games as well, but prior to Wayne Gretzky coming to town in 1988, very few cared about hockey in Los Angeles. Honestly, before the transition to KCAL when Disney bought them, 9 was my least favorite among the traditional independents in L.A. I always thought that 5 and 11 had the better shows, but by the mid-80s, 13 was beefing-up their lineup of shows--including having Wheel & Jeopardy! together starting in '85, before moved to KCBS, then later KABC.

MIDNIGHT A Walk Through the 20th Century With Bill Moyers: "The Democrat (FDR) & the Dictator (Hitler)"

Interestingly enough 7/22//92 was also the series finale of Dear John (see KXAS schedule). The show had initial success its first two seasons as a top 20 show airing on NBC's Thursday Nights. Then NBC moved around the schedule a lot and of course ratings collapsed, finishing off at #77 for its fourth and final season.

I should've mentioned that. Thanks for pointing that out.

I hate to be that bug-a-boo, but any listings for KDAF (33, Fox back then) and the other DFW indies (21, 27 and 39)?

That's all coming up in Part II with the UHF channels later on. Stay tuned!

The late newscast on CHSJ was station-produced...CBC only produced an early-evening newscast for CHSJ at the time.

Thanks for that info.

Retro: KPBS-TV Channel 15-San Diego, CA - (August 1975 Membership Campaign)-Complete Schedule-August 15th, 1975 through August 25th, 1975

SOURCE: Times-Advocate in Escondido, CA, San Diego Union, San Diego Evening Tribune.

Here is the complete schedule of the August 1975 Membership Campaign from PBS affiliate KPBS-TV in San Diego, CA from Friday August 15th, 1975 through Monday August 25th, 1975. ☐ ☐

NOTE: KPBS is conducting its usual local Membership Campaign called "KPBS Membership Days" but the first August National membership campaign for PBS and it will include Membership Appeals between regularly scheduled programs, so I don't know if the station had another membership pledge campaign after the February 1974 Public Television Membership Week or before the December 1974 Awareness Week or before Festival '75, and any other membership pledge drive in 1972 and 1973.

SO PRETTY PLEASE Let me know in the comments or questions or suggestions for any concern... DON'T HESITATE, COMMENT ANYTIME

6:30 Early Today

Which one was it? Because NBC News at Sunrise didn't debut until a year later... in 1983. And if so, other things must have aired during the 5:00-6:30am timeframe.

You're right about that. Most likely CNN Headline News and either a replay of the 11:00 PM NewsCenter 4 broadcast, or an early morning edition of that. Or perhaps even two different CNN Headline News broadcasts. The schedule only says "News", so there's no way of knowing for sure exactly which newscasts those were.

Just researched through newspapers.com, and it turns out that it WAS CNN Headline News at 5:30 AM, as well as at 11:00 AM (incorrectly listed as NewsCenter 4). There is nothing listed in the 6:00 AM slot, so my best guess might be a second Headline News episode.

What a coincidence we forgot WWII

Wasn't listed...WMEM was also listed in the paper's early days, but was later dropped.

Because it was the Fourth of July in the USA, CBC and Radio-Canada carried a baseball game from Detroit involving the Toronto Blue Jays.

I noticed the odd inclusion of 9&10 from Cadillac, especially considering that much closer stations (that also had some degree of viewership in the outer ranges of the LSJ circulation area) such as WZZM, WCMU, WFUM, or WXON were not included.

Very clever layout with the network affiliates!

Face the Nation (CBS) - Donald Platten, Chairman and CEO of Chemical Bank of New York

Meet the Press (NBC) - Gov. Toney Anaya (D-NM), Chairman of Hispanic Force '84

This Week With David Brinkley (ABC) - Presidential counselor Edwin Meese; Henry Cisneros, Mayor of San Antonio and member of the Bipartisan Commission on Central America; Dr. Tirso del Junco, Chairman of the Republican National Hispanic Assembly

It appears that WHA and WPNE ran separate schedules

You mean WPNR from Green Bay?

The correct call letters were/are WPNE.

IIRC, they did until 1986, when WPNE became just another satellite of WHA-TV.

I put in the wrong letter at the end. My bad!

Most interesting station for me is WHA PBS. Everything from "The Flame Trees of Thicka" (the British Tv series that revived Hayley Mills' career) to "The Unknown War", a documentary about the Soviet front in WW2 that largely disappeared after the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. And who doesn't love a PBS station that airs bowling?

Please post listings for Saturday 8/13/1983 and Wednesday 8/17/1983.

When I have the chance.

Most interesting station for me is WHA PBS. Everything from "The Flame Trees of Thicka" (the British TV series that revived Hayley Mills' career) to "The Unknown War", a documentary about the Soviet front in WW2 that largely disappeared after the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. And who doesn't love a PBS station that airs bowling?

Also they're the only PBS station with a 3 letter callsign!

The only 3-letter PBS station in the nation? (no rhyme intended)

Please post listings for Saturday 8/13/1983 and Wednesday 8/17/1983.

Something significant about August 17, 1983?

Thanks for that correction. It was actually The Adventures of the Galaxy Rangers. The grid schedule just said "Rangers", and I didn't know when Rescue Rangers actually premiered.

I thought WJZ Channel 13 was ABC. According to wiki it was ABC (1948-1995). □

That's right, because of CBS' major deal with Westinghouse, the switch took effect in January 1995.

WMAR 2 switched from NBC to ABC

WBAL 11 switched from CBS to NBC

and

WJZ 13 switched from ABC to CBS and WJZ 13 would become a CBS O&O station in late 1995.

@RandTV can you add the country songs that were played on this date?

You must love country music, I take it.

i'm a diehard country music fan, always have been.

You can put them in yourself through Billboard's archives. <http://www.worldradiohistory.com/Archive-All-Music/Billboard-Magazine.htm>

From The Val D'Or Star, via Google News Archive

Note the exclusion of any Francophone stations as well as CBMT Montreal, although CBMT had a rebroadcaster serving the area from nearby Malartic, QC. Schedules for "Detroit 6" (WDIV NBC - 6 must have been the cable channel) and "Detroit 2" (WJBK CBS) were also listed but appear to date from 1986, so I didn't include them either. Listings were also in the 24-hour clock format.

I add translations alongside the French and Spanish titles, in which I get from Google Translate. That's something you could do for non-English titles.

Actually, what I meant is the paper didn't list any Francophone stations (or CBMT). Not even the SRC local, CKRN (which they did include in years past). I'll usually list French or Spanish program titles if they're listed. The Detroit listings were the only ones I purposely chose to omit because they were so out of date!

Emergency Squad was billed on screen as Emergency Plus 4, a cartoon version of the NBC prime time procedural Emergency!.

I was wondering about that...not sure why the Soo paper listed it as that :unsure:

Sometimes newspapers get titles jumbled. When Help!...It's the Hair Bear Bunch! debuted in 1971, several newspapers listed it as "Here Come the Bears" (after lyrics in the theme's refrain).

Odd that there's no CTV outlet listed. And what about CICO-TV-20 in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario? That's the rebroadcaster of TVOntario, the public non-commercial broadcaster, similar to PBS. No interest in running that on U.S. cable systems? (It has since been shut down when Canada switched from analog to digital.) I'm sure folks with just rabbit ear antennas and without cable could get CTV and TVO over the air, just like CBC. So why not list those stations too?

And if the local cable system in Northern Michigan is importing Independent Channel 50 WKBD from Detroit, why not also import PBS Channel 56 WTVS from Detroit?

Sault Ontario didn't have a CTV outlet until 1977, while TVO in 1973 just had one OTA transmitter (the flagship in Toronto)

Wasn't The Price Is Right the 10:30 AM show on channel 4? I know it moved to 11 AM on New Year's Eve.

Per listings for the rest of the week, KRON normally cleared it at 2:30pm.

And SOAP OPERAS as early as 9:00 AM in 1956 !! Who'd have thought THAT??

Once upon a time in the not so distant PAST nowadays, a soap opera on THAT early was TIME SHIFTED FROM THE ORIGINAL AIRDATE

Now, you NEVER see ANYTHING BUT some talk show or Courtroom show on that early (Even the Today show shifts to more of a talk show & The Price Is Right doesn't even come on till 11:00/10:00 AM on CBS)

My how the times have changed..... :eek:

Back in the days when soap operas used dramatic organ music.

I'm struck by the lack of newscasts. The 7:45 news on KRON 4 is likely John Cameron Swayze with NBC News. We see KPIX 5 has Douglas Edwards and CBS News at 6:15. It seems KPIX also has a local ten minute newscast at 1:30 pm with Les Paul & Mary Ford doing a five minute syndicated show at 1:40 pm. That's it for KRON and KPIX. No evening news, no late night news. Maybe a few headlines at sign-off?

And during this era, ABC ran its network news late. It usually aired at 10:30pm on the East Coast, so stations could either do a local newscast at 10:45 or start their late movie earlier than their competitors. We see here that KGO runs ABC News with John Daly at 11pm. Daly was the anchor and news director at the ABC Network, but made an equal amount of money hosting What's My Line? Sunday evenings at 10:30 on CBS. Rare for someone to be on two networks doing two totally different types of show.

I also see KGO 7 has something called San Francisco Tonight at 11:15. I wonder if that was a mix of local news and local talk? Or was it just a San Francisco version of The Tonight Show?

And KQVR 13 Mount Diablo is an interesting story I just read on Wikipedia. It started as an independent station for San Francisco and San Jose before moving to Stockton and becoming the ABC affiliate for Sacramento.

Do you have a schedule from the same date for WLMT Channel 30?

I've also been looking for schedules for the early years of WPTY (Now WATN) and WLMT (originally WMKW) and also WJWT 16 (Now WJKT) in Jackson, TN from when they were true independents. Thanks for any help.

Retro: Cincinnati/Dayton - December 16, 1988

From the day "Rain Man" premiered, in which Charlie (Tom Cruise) and Raymond "AKA Rain Man" (Dustin Hoffman) begin their journey to Los Angeles from Cincinnati. Plus, I'm also adding Dayton as a bonus.

An interesting line up of stations in 2000. It looks like Guam has its own NBC, ABC, CBS and PBS outlets, but it imports Fox and an Independent station from San Francisco. It also has a Channel 7 that I assume is a cable operation with programming in the local language?

IIRC, ch 7 was a cable channel...Guam would finally get a local full-time Fox station in 2006 when KEQI joined the network after 2 years as an indie; Fox had previously aired on a secondary basis by KUAM and then KTGM for most of the 90s- KTVU was imported in-between for Fos.
